Break Free

1. All wrapped up

What you need

- Toilet Paper/ Newspaper
- Pen

How to play

1. Select 2 volunteers from the group
2. Ask a few of the students to wrap up their hands with the toilet paper / newspaper in 2- 3 minutes
3. Ask the volunteers to try and break free from the wrapping, at the end of the allotted time.
4. Now get a few students to add a few more layers on the volunteers' hands in the next 2 minutes.
5. Get them to try and break free.

Note: You could say “It’s weird how something so small, and easy to break, can totally imprison us if there are enough layers.”

2. All tangled up!

How to play

1. Divide the crowd into groups of 12- 15 students each.
2. At your signal, the group huddles together and grabs the hand of a person not standing next to them.

3. Give them about 2- 3 minutes and then shout out 'Untangle'.
4. They may not let go of the other person's hands.
5. So in order to untangle they must go over and under people's arms to get untangled. Sometimes you will end up with two circles.
6. The first team to untangle back into a circle wins.

Never Have I

How to play:

1. Divide the group into 10- 12 member teams
2. Have everyone form a circle
3. The first person says, "Never have I(it could be something the person has never done/ experienced... Never have I been to the beach)
4. The next person continues, "Never have I"
5. The game continues till every person gets a chance.
